DETAILED ACTION

In view of applicants' pre-brief conference request filed on March 28, 2008, upon thorough consideration and review of applicant's arguments, prosecution is hereby reopened. Claims 1-6 and 12-13 are pending.

Response to Amendment

Rejection of Claims 1 and 5-6 as being anticipated by Humphries WO 0290125 A2) has been withdrawn in light of applicant's arguments.

Rejection of Claims 2-4 and 12-13 are as being unpatentable over Humphries in view Kasman (US 5459300) has been withdrawn in light of applicant's arguments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

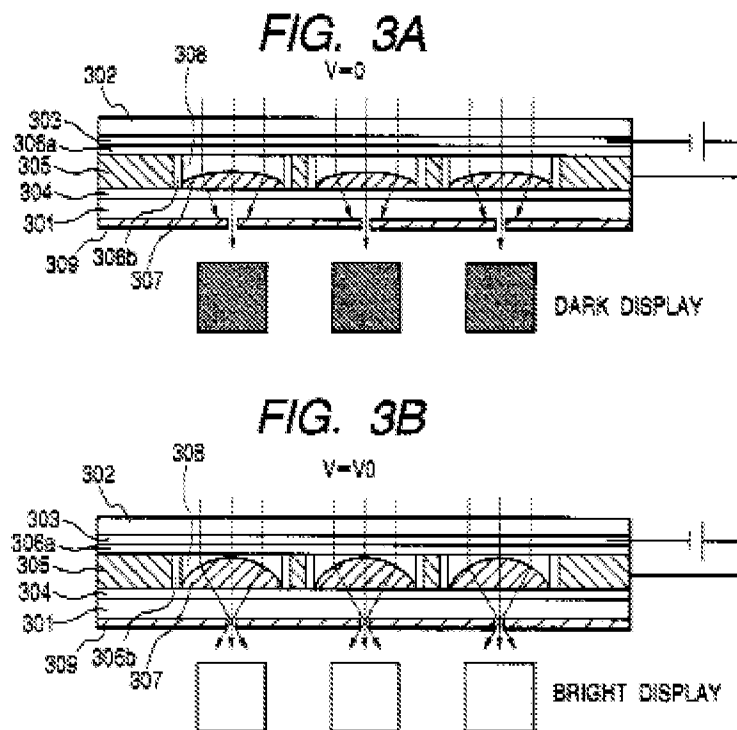

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawanami (US 6603444).

Kawanami teaches a substrate (304) having at least a first surface and a plurality of closed cells disposed in a predetermined feature pattern on the at least first surface. Kawanami further teaches means for changing the pressure of at least a first fluid disposed within the plurality of closed cells in order to cause a selected liquid to change the degree of penetration of the feature pattern. (See Col. 7, Lines 14-38) (See Figures below)

Kawanami fails to explicitly teach the means for changing the pressure of at least a first fluid comprises means for changing the temperature of the at least a first fluid.

Kawanami does teach where an amount of the light passing through the mask is regulated by a voltage applied to the second fluid of each pixel that alters the shape of an interface between the first and second fluid. Therefore, the light/lamp or heat given off by the light is inherently changing the temperature and pressure of the fluid and thus causes the liquid to move. (See Claim 1)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1797

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 2-3 and 12-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawanami.

Refer above for the teachings of Kawanami.

Kawanami fails to teach the plurality of closed cells each have at least a first dimension of less than 1 micron and height-to-width ration ranging from about 0.12 to 0.18.

Changes in size and shape are commonly known in the art. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide the closed wells of Humphries having a first dimension of less than millimeter and a width ranging from about 4 to 25 microns and height-to-width ratio ranging from about 0.12 to 0.18 to achieve the predictable results obtaining the desired sample size and thus making the process more efficient.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest means for changing the pressure of at least a first fluid comprises means for injecting and removing varying amounts of the fluid into and out of the cells, respectively.
